

PRODUCT CHANGE NOTIFICATION – Switch guards

Please note that the axis of all our black-plated switch guards will now be made of stainless steel without plating instead of brass with black plating.

The axis will look metalized-grey now instead of black before as shown on the below pictures.

This modification has no impact on technical features of the product.

There are several series impacted and the stock situation varies from one component to another. Today, we plan to implement this modification beginning of 2023 but it may come a bit earlier or later depending on the coming orders.
