Description for Product Change Notification

With the construction of new injection molding tools, the design of the material displacement of the MSTB 2,5/ connectors without flange system with 2-position through 10-position will be adapted to match that of the high-position connectors and those with flange system. A visual comparison of old/new is provided below in this document. The external dimensions, technical data, and approvals remain unchanged. The existing tools will continue to produce the old design. This will gradually be replaced with the new contour over the coming years.
